

November Highlights at Foundations EDU

We have some very talented artists here at Foundations EDU. We didn't let the cold get to us as we painted "Under The Sea" themed beach paintings. We even added our own footprints to our paintings! It was fun, but it was a strange feeling to have paint on our feet.

The Oswego Town Fire Department came to teach us about fire safety and prevention. They showed us how they put on their gear and many of the tools they use. We talked about fire detectors, carbon monoxide detectors, how to develop a family fire safety plan, and what the job of a firefighter entails.

After the turkeys revolted (led by turkey activist D. Butterball Oostdyk) the students campaigned and prepared speeches to determine who would be our new Thanksgiving representative. Check out the videos on Camp Foundations Facebook page. Who would you have voted for, a chicken or a shark?

Swinging on a beautiful day in the fall! We enjoyed this nice weather in November!

Anxiously waiting to see if our newspaper and tape structures can hold the weight of a bowling pin!
